PREFACE.

The Official Register of Legally Qualified Physicians presented herewith by the Illinois State Board of Health, has been revised and corrected up to March, 1915. Unusual effort has been made to avoid errors and inaccuracies and, it is believed, with a more than ordinary degree of success.

In addition to repeated checking of these lists and comparison with the official records in the offices of the Board, proofs have been submitted to the various county medical societies, through their secretaries, for addition and correction. The revised proofs were also submitted to secretaries of county medical societies as well as to other physicians immediately prior to publication, so that the data contained have been checked and re-checked by at least five well-informed persons in each county. In addition to this the State Board of Health has availed itself of the splendid facilities of the Directory Division of the American Medical Association for purposes of revision and verification.

The last Official Register published in complete form, including the city of Chicago and the State at large, was issued in 1903. Since that time, registers have appeared from time to time, but in no single instance has the State been completely covered in a publication in permanent form.

In April, 1912, there was issued a Register completely covering the State outside of Chicago. A complete Register of Chicago physicians appeared in the Bulletin of the State Board of Health for August of the same year.

At the time of compilation of this register there were approximately 21,200 persons licensed in Illinois to practice medicine and surgery in all their branches, of whom 4,882 were located in the city of Chicago and 5,722 elsewhere in the State. Of the total number of Illinois licentiates approximately 10,600 are practicing outside the State and their residences are not a matter of record in the offices of the Board. Those licensed to treat human ailments without the internal or external use of drugs or the employment of operative surgery, commonly designated as "other practitioners" are not included in this register.

Immediately preceding the official register will be found a list of medical institutions, boards of medical examination, medical societies and licensing bodies together with the abbreviations employed in designating such organizations and bodies throughout subsequent pages.

There is also including in this preface an interesting table showing graphically the conditions of medical licensure in the various states of the union.

This table shows the requirements for licensure of physicians, the provisions for preliminary and professional education, details as to reciprocity with other states, the character of examining bodies and the licensing and examining fees.

Aside from the general interest attaching to this table, an opportunity is afforded for comparing the methods of examination and licensure in Illinois with those prevailing in other states.

On account of the large list of licentiates in the city of Chicago, these names are grouped together in a separate section at the end of the list for Cook County, instead of being in its natural, alphabetical place in the county as is done with other and smaller cities.

The secretary desires to gratefully acknowledge the services of the secretaries of the various county medical societies, the courtesy of the American Medical Association and the cooperation of a large number of individual physicians for contributing to the accuracy and completeness of this register and to Mr. W. R. Cook, of the State Board of Health Staff, under whose direction this volume was compiled.
